WEEKLY BULLETIN

Term 4 Week 3, 2018

37 Lincoln St, Gunnedah NSW 2380; P.O Box 316.

EXCURSION FUN:

There are many more great photos on both the School Webpage and Facebook.

REMINDER ABOUT THE QUESTIONNAIRE:

Dear Parents and Carers,

My name is Zara Whelan and I'm in Year 12 at St Mary's College. In my Community and Family Studies subject we are required to undertake an Independent Research Project. The topic I have chosen is "Do Teenagers with a disability experience more bullying via social media than teenagers who don't have a disability". As part of the research I will be providing a questionnaire to staff for students of high school age to complete in school time.

If you would prefer your student did not complete the questionnaire please advise the school.

Thank you, Zara.

RELIEVING PRINCIPAL'S REPORT:

Week 2 was a huge week for all of us at GS Kidd School. Congratulations to the students, staff, parents and volunteers involved in the excursions last week and to all the people in the community who supported the school to ensure the excursions could take place.

- Bec Maybury.

LUKE KENNEDY

---

On the outside he looked strong and confident, on the inside his thoughts would come to haunt him. He was incredibly scared, depressed, anxious, and awkward in social situations. Luke always worried what other people thought about him which led to him committing some harsh acts and missing out on many positive opportunities.

---

He opens up the audience's eyes, and mind, to their ego – to the labels that we battle to live up to, and relates his story back to some of the masks the audience would be wearing. He then shows how these labels, and worrying what other people think, is ruining our relationships, following through on ideas (it could be as simple as not making those crucial sales calls, or not putting your hand up in class), happiness, and success in every area of life. Becoming aware of ones ego and labels, is the first step
